Chief guest Shri Shiv Nadar, while delivering the convocation address, talked about his journey and gave the students an inside peek into the realities of the corporate world, through anecdotes from his own young days. He said, "Seeing all of you (students) reminds me of my convocation. You have to realise that every single one of you has a long life ahead. Head out, explore the world, and experiment with life each and every day. Have your dreams and pursue them relentlessly, because, your dreams are what set you apart. There will be disappointments, failures and moments of doubt. These will all be waiting for you, but at the end of the road is the satisfaction of knowing that despite it all, you never gave up."

Shri Kamal Nath, president, IMT Governing Council, said in his address to the students, "Technology is offering exciting opportunities; the world economy and the socio-political milieu of the globe have become extremely dynamic. Business education needs to keep pace with this disruption and change. I am glad that IMT Ghaziabad has undertaken a journey to be in tune with these demands and groom its graduates accordingly."

IMT Ghaziabad director Dr Atish Chattopadhyay delivered the welcome address and summarised the key milestones and achievements during the past academic year.

The convocation ceremony concluded with the national anthem and the procession leaving the lawns.
